Leaves & Worms at FAA

Fred Anderson Elementary School (FAA) has partnered again with North Carolina Cooperative Extension in Pamlico County to help third graders learn about soils. Daniel Simpson, horticulture agent, and Sarah Harrelson, 4-H agent, introduced students to Backyard and Vermicomposting (worms) on October 14. FAA students learned what items to add and not to add to each bin. Students use food scraps from the cafeteria to feed the worms and teachers have added leaves to the backyard bin. Third graders will continue composting throughout the year in the hopes to have compost for the FAA garden that will begin in 2012.

Pamlico Shooting Sports Team Dominate at the 4-H Shooting Sports tournament held in September. For most of the Jr. and Sr. team this tournament was nothing new, but for Meg Anderson, Bryce Bynum, and Jackson Willis this was their first time as a participant.

In preparation for the big day club members practiced on their own daily for months and then came together as a team in September to receive instruction from club leaders. Team members helped each other with technique and provided the newbies with tournament tips. Obviously all of the hard work paid off in the end especially for Devan Spain scoring a perfect 200 in archery, while Stephen Carey won 3-D archery. Marshall Brinson, Tanner Willis, and Meg Anderson won 2nd in team archery, while Marshall, Tanner, and Jackson Willis won 2nd in team rifle. Marshall also tied for 3rd place individual shot gun and finished 2nd individual for rifle.
